When we invest in our community, we increase the likelihood that we can respond to the changing needs of residents of all ages.

For fifty years, the Aroostook Agency on Aging has established itself as a champion for helping older persons age with dignity and respect. It's a mission we want to continue well into the future.

We believe that every older person in Aroostook County deserves to age well. As a non-profit, most of our services are provided at no charge. The financial and volunteer support we receive from our community allows us to offer more services to more people.

Supporting the Aroostook Agency on Aging Foundation is a way to honor a loved one or to invest in our mission.

How to give

A one-time or recurring donation to the Aroostook Agency on Aging Foundation helps us sustain and expand services today. Planned gifts and bequests enable our agency to prepare for the future, ensuring services for older people in Aroostook for years to come. Corporate sponsorships provide benefits to those we serve, as well as the business partner through public visibility.

We can help you explore options for giving that match your interest and make the most difference to those in need.

Levels of giving

There is no single way to donate to our organization. Every act of generosity counts and everyone has something to give. There are several levels of giving to consider:

All donors become Friends of the Agency and will receive a subscription to our newsletters and other communications, as well as advance notice of all Aroostook Agency on Aging events.

Donors who pledge $100 or more, in addition, become Partners in Aging and will receive exclusive access to Agency offerings such as art exhibits, guest speaker presentations, and Foundation special events.

Individual or corporate donors who give $10,000 cumulatively are known as Champions for Change. Those who give a bequest of $1,000 or more are named as Legacy Society members. Both groups will have the opportunity to gain deeper knowledge of the Agency's mission through regular contact with members of our leadership team.
